This is Dale,
the potbellied whale.
His favorite thing to do, right
in the middle of the sea, is to spout water from his head into a small flowerpot, you'll see!

Dale is always relaxed and elegant, although he weights as much as 30 times an elephant.

Mrs. Goethe, the turtle, loves to play the flute.

She carries a heavy shell on her back, which protects her from being sad.

Mrs. Goethe lives up to 200 years
and enjoys every minute with her peers.

Only starfish Salty is even slower than Mrs. Goethe.
Almost like a climbing root,
he needs the whole day
for a few meters,
even when he is in
a good mood!
Salty can dive deep, deeper even when he takes a leap.

Poof, a modern puffer fish, dresses peculiar, but fashionable.

His appearance has the message send, not to catch him, or his poison makes your life come to an end.

Thick and round, he swims
with deep breaths,
through the sea, looking for a
southern breeze.

You see, Crab Fab is found in every sea.

His face is red, just like the sunset he likes to see.

He can play rhythmic beats because he just knows what everybody needs.

Fab also likes to dance, so
when the music grows,
you will see him moving around water plants.

Seahorse Clint has a very special gift. You might have heard that he can have children as the only boy in the animal world.

Up to 2,000 bronze-colored babies called fry.

Clint's shame?

He likes to blow bubbles under water. Go on and give it a try!

Jellyfish Jam is another unusual marine animal.
He likes to paint with his
tentacles on your skin.
But, trust me, this spectacle
takes an unpleasant spin.
Rash can be painful so keep in mind, watch Jim from a distance and watch him glow
in all colors, so enemies, Jam and you can be coexistent.

Close to the fishing hook rests Carmen, just look!
Part of the Pacific giant squid family, she is one of the most intelligent animals in the ocean, actually.
Growing up to 250 kilogram,
she swims around and is
friends with everyone.

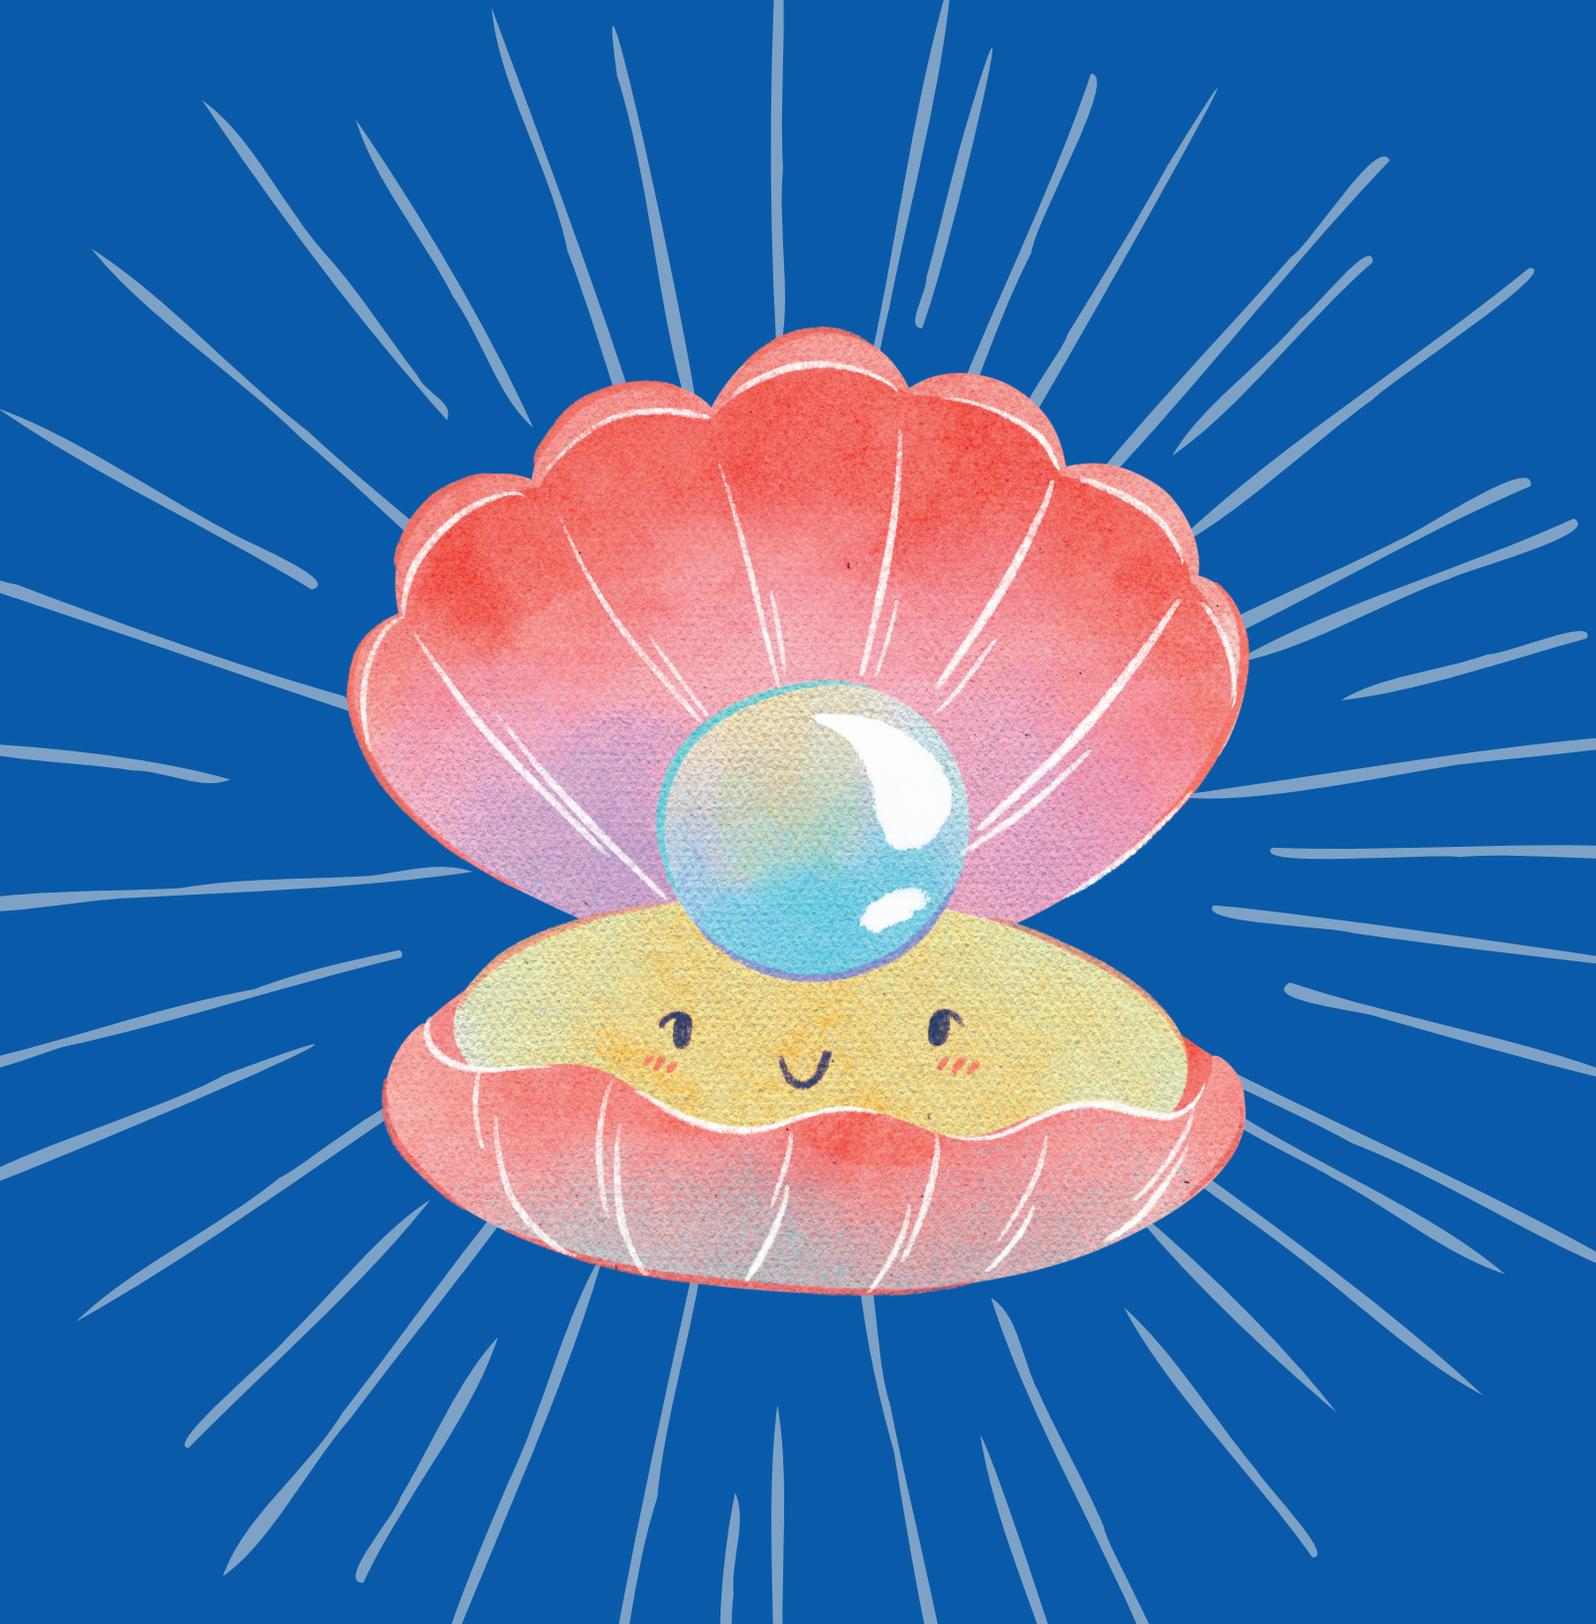

This is stingray Mr. Ray.

According to his plans, he changes his sting every 2 to 3 years, that's his thing.

He also surprises everyone with a smile, showing off his new teeth once in a while.

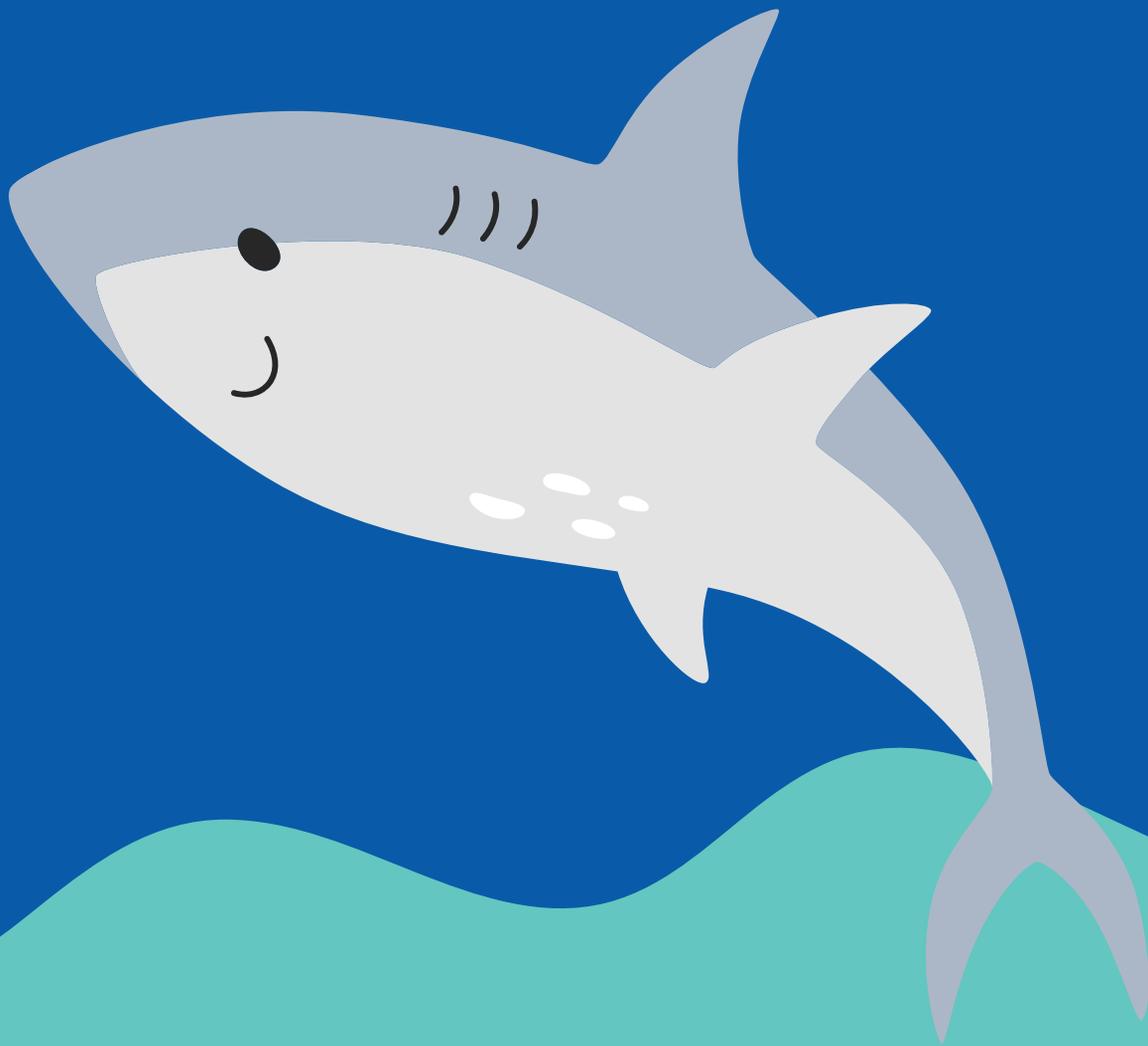

He is long, wide, and very flat, which helps him when it comes to a fight, in fact.

Oyster Perl likes to relax at the bottom of the sea.

Hypnotizing with her shine,
she is as beautiful as
one can be!

Hard on the outside, soft inside - she likes to eat plankton day in and day out.
Sometimes open, sometimes closed - Oyster Perl enjoys her life, without a doubt.

This is Marc,
the great white shark.
If he loses a tooth in a fight,
he is never sad.

Because he has learnt from his dad, that, again and again, teeth will grow back, even after a serious attack.

Most people are afraid of him, but Marc is friendly.

He waves gently when he greet's you on his morning swim.

▶ The most intelligent animal in the sea is the dolphin.

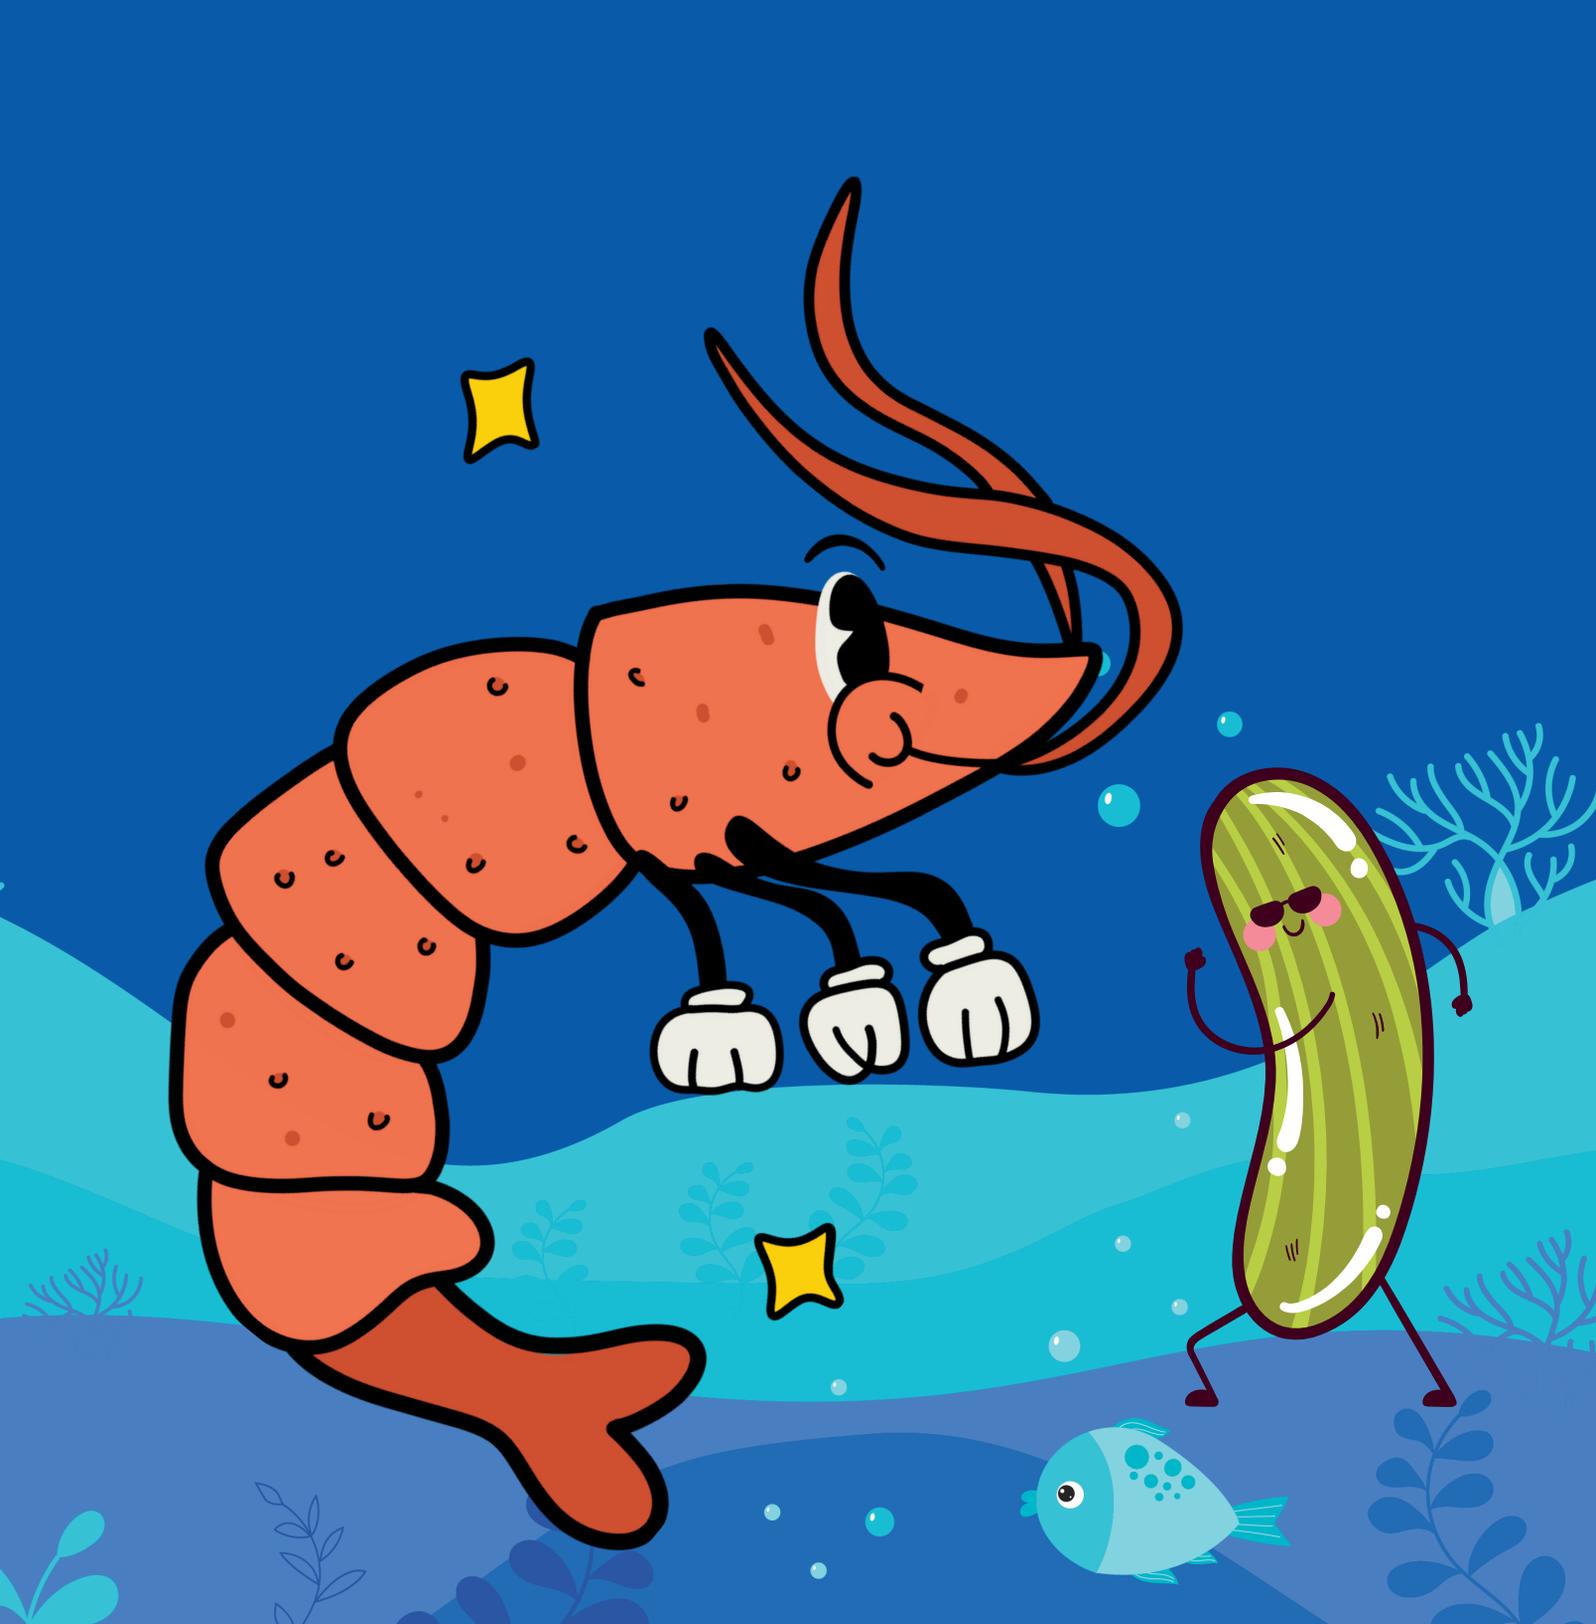

▶ That is why Kevin never misses a day at school.

▶ Sleeping with one eye open, because that is the rule,

Kevin always knows

what goes on,

and that is so cool.

This is Nele, the shrimp.
She changes her skin so that she can keep growing, isn't that an amazing thing?
She belongs to the crab
family, even if you
don't believe.

Her favorite food?
Sea cucumber cookies.
They are all what she needs!

Simone, the sea anemone, is an animal, but looks like a flower - and that's her secret superpower!
She lives by herself, at the bottom of the sea.
A rock is her home, so she has no need to roam.
